The Creative Folks Undergoes Its First Community Initiative with IFE Academy

Atlanta, GA, August 3, 2018 – The Creative Folks (TCF) are kicking into gear the new school year by hosting a school supply drive at IFE Academy next week on August 7, 2018. IFE (“Inspiring Future Educators”) Academy of Teaching & Technology is a school that offers a structured learning environment, while still delivering the flexibility and intimacy of traditional homeschooling. The purpose of this initiative is to not only give back to the community but to foster creativity in children. TCF believes that providing students with supplies better equips them for success in the competitive learning environment of today’s classroom.

Tammy Huynh, CEO of The Creative Folks and former student of Shekema Silveri, one of the founders of IFE academy, comments: “Shekema Silveri was one of my teachers in high school. She was everyone’s favorite. We call her by ‘Momma Silveri’ because that’s how all of her students viewed her: a loving mother. Her opening an academy comes at no surprise; She has a love for both education and her students, which is seen through how she directs a classroom.”

IFE Academy offers students year-round learning as well as a la carte courses, tutoring, and blended learning – a mix of traditional and virtual learning. Parents have the option of fully personalizing their child’s learning experience. They are able to have the conventional homeschooling environment and experience, without the sole responsibility of homeschooling their children by themselves. This is the beginning of many community initiatives for TCF. The company will also be hosting free creative learning workshops for students later this year, with many more events to come in 2019.
