FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Creative Folks First Partnership Is With The MadeMark Summer Art Series And Scholarship Program

Atlanta, GA, August 10, 2018 –The Creative Folks (TCF) is partnering with MadeMark by helping choose its scholarship winner this summer. The scholarship prize is $500 and will be going to one deserving applicant that participates during the July 16th - August 11th, 2018 process. By partnering with MadeMark, The Creative Folks fulfills the mission statement of both organizations: fostering creativity.

Carina Maye, the founder of MadeMark, says "The MadeMark Summer Art Series and Scholarship Program is a scholarship tailored to offer financial support to a deserving applicant and [also] develop [both] visual-arts students and emerging artists [who are] taking steps toward a Visual-Arts career. We are working to provide a supportive and creative space to learn, network, and excel."

Tammy Huynh, CEO of The Creative Folks, will be judging on behalf of her company. She says, "This is my first time being a judge for something empowering as a scholarship. I've been evaluating and critiquing graphic design, but always had a love and respect for the art industry as a whole. So while this is a 'first' for me, I think it's such an honoring experience. All the students who entered the scholarship went above and beyond on their works."

Judging will be taking place over the weekend, and the winner is chosen on August 13th, 2018. This scholarship is possible thanks to the generous contribution from Julio Mejia, founder of The Latin and African-American for the Arts.
